Terros Organic Blanco Pinoso 2025

Region

The Alicante wine region is located in the Valencia region in eastern Spain. It is situated in the southeast corner of the country, bordering the Mediterranean Sea. Alicante is also the name of the province south of Valencia city, and along with the designation, derives its name from the historic port city of Alicante. The region`s reputation as a mass producer of vineyards with high yields is slowly changing. As more elegant and fresh wines (particularly red blends) and promising red varietal wines emerge from entrepreneurial winemakers, the pressure on other producers to modernize increases, as do quality and respect.

Producer

Bodegas Pinoso is based in the Alicante region of Spain. They are a co-operative who were founded in 1932 to unite local family winegrowers, pooling their tools and experience to create great wines that represent the region. In the late 90's the winery shifted towards enhancing the towns environmental stewardship, emphasising sustainable practices, committing to support young farmers to convert to organic farming, increase biodiversity and eliminate all pesticide use. By 2010 1200 ha of vine were certified organic and this continues to grow. The winery also encourage the use of more traditional local varieties such as Garnacha Tintorera, Monastrell, Moscatel and Airen.

Tasting Notes

This wine is made from a plot of old Airén vines, a Spanish indigenous grape variety, cultivated in the traditional way in their best non with irrigated vineyards, and blended with Sauvignon Blanc and Chardonnay. After pressing and racking indeginous yeast fermentations, to display typical characteristics of the area and allowing aromatic expression. The wine is left on the lees for several weeks before bottling. A nose that reminds of ripe peach, apricot, flowers and white pepper. The mouth shows citrus, green apple, and floral notes, often with a touch of minerality due to the region's limestone soils.

Food

An excellent pairing for a variety of cuisines such as grilled fish like bass, shellfish, tapas, and paella.
